Male Announcer:

Listen to this! Foreclosed, confiscated and repossessed homes are flooding the market! Because of their low, low prices these homes are causing a home buying feeding frenzy!

Two, three, four bedroom homes, condos and duplexes—in great neighborhoods—are selling for prices, in many cases, not seen since the 1970s or earlier. These fantastic homes are being bought for literally pennies on the dollar.

The reason is simple: banks and mortgage lenders are awash in red ink, their desks covered with unpaid mortgages. They want these homes off their books right now—and that's great news for you.

Even if you have terrible credit—or no credit... if you have very little money to put down—or no money to put down, many banks and mortgage lenders will still sell you these unbelievable homes—fast!

Call 1-800-XXX-XXXX to get a list of the fastest, easiest to pick up foreclosed, confiscated and repossessed homes down the street, right around the corner or cross town from you.

Call 1-800-XXX-XXXX, that's 1-800-XXX-XXXX. Hurry! Call right now!

Female Announcer:

Hi. My name is Sue Corner. I'm an admitted foreclosure addict. That's right. I'm addicted to buying foreclosed, confiscated and repossessed homes.

I never intended to become a foreclosure addict—but when I found out I can buy two, three, four bedroom homes, condos, town homes and duplexes in desirable neighborhoods, with great schools, shops and great neighbors... for literally pennies on the dollar—I couldn't stop myself from buying them.

Homes selling on the retail market are still priced way too high—so now I buy homes at deep, deep discount—less than wholesale—prices.

Many of the banks that own these homes don't care if I have terrible credit—or no credit, or if I have very little money or no money to put down. They just want to make the deal happen.

I get a continually updated list of these high quality, bargain-priced homes from Consumer Resource Network 1-800-XXX-XXXX.

And there's plenty to go around—they've got thousands of homes listed.

Call 1-800-XXX-XXXX, that's 1-800-XXX-XXXX to get your home buying fix today.
